

mGoss & glam

Romantic gothic was born for Whitehouse Institute of Design's Amy Badikovich

Alexis Belcher from Melbourne's RMIT University was in two minds which skirt to use in her collection

Ashley Jae from Sydney's University of Technology used her little sister's floaty as a bracelet

RMIT's Alicia Gramsbergen got runner-up kudos for her biker bondage look

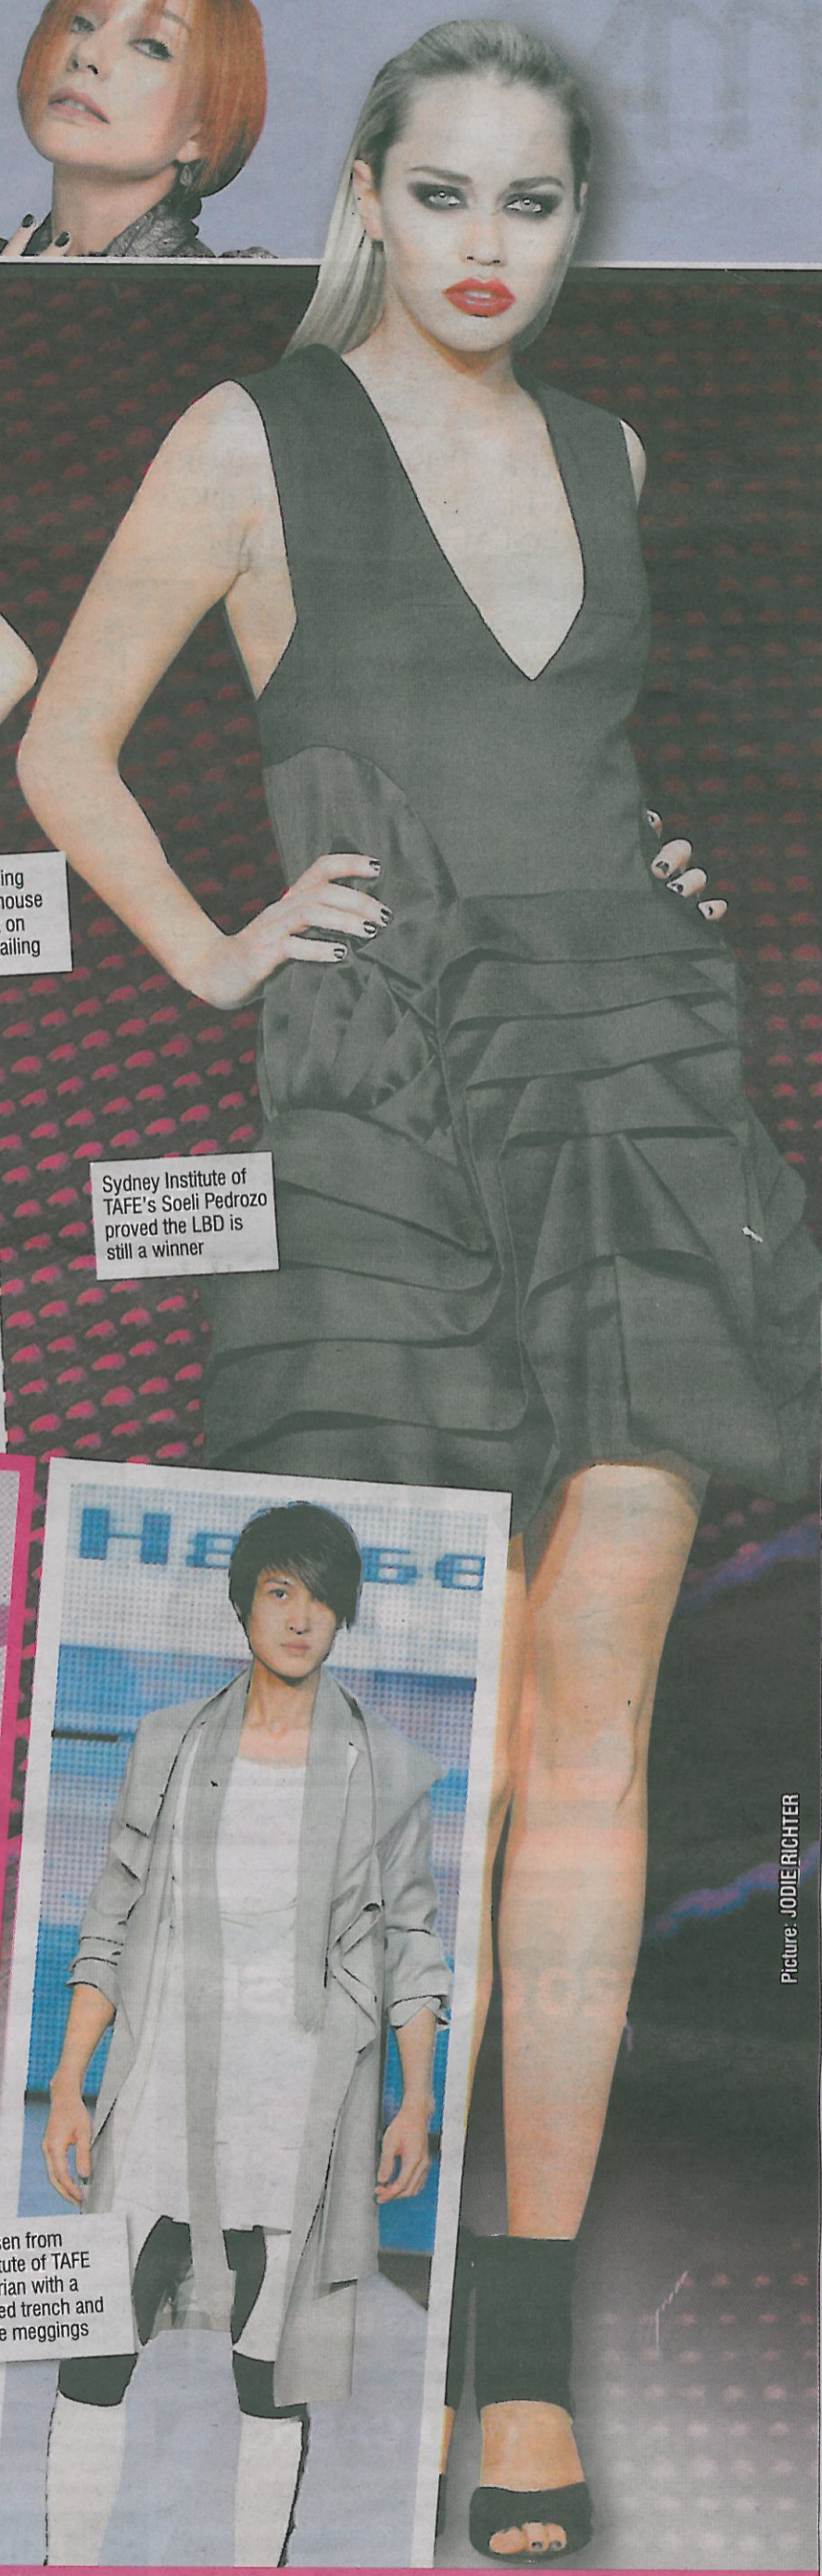

MSIT's Kirsten Reynolds with her pitch for next year's Miss Universe evening gown section

School's out

AUSTRALIA'S BRIGHTEST YOUNG THINGS FOUGHT IT OUT ON THE CATWALK AT THE TELSTRA NEXT G AUSTRALIAN FASHION GRADUATE OF THE YEAR AWARDS WITH mY's JODIE RICHTER THERE TO SEE WHO TOPPED THE CLASS

“ She’s what I call a meteor – singers who entertain people for a while”

– TORI AMOS THINKS LADY GAGA’S POPULARITY IS HEADED FOR A BLACK HOLE

Stephanie Wisse from Queensland’s Metropolitan South Institute of TAFE thinks the hills are alive with pleated skirts

Ellie Wesseling from Whitehouse went all out on crochet detailing

Sydney Institute of TAFE’s Soeli Pedrozo proved the LBD is still a winner

Alexandra Rost from UTS with a touch of storm trooper

Kiara Bulley, QUT buckled the trend with mustard pants

Ainsley Hansen from Sydney Institute of TAFE went equestrian with a deconstructed trench and jodhpur-style meggings

Red marks the spot for Jo Turner from Queensland University of Technology

Picture: JODIE RICHTER