

MYER GOES TO SCHOOL

Myer launch their autumn/winter 2009 range at the Whitehouse Institute

It's the home of Australia's Project Runway but fortunately Kristy Hinze wasn't on hand to send designers home at Melbourne's Whitehouse Institute for Myer's big bash. Making the cut for the iconic Melbourne department store's Autumn/Winter collection 2009 launch were Wayne Cooper, Leona Edmiston, Toni Maticovski and Yeojin Bae.

Intricate choreography kept the show moving faster than a queue for the Ladies Lounge and challenged the fast-stepping skills of some models used to striking slacker poses. Model Simone Kerr stomped along the runway with her usual angry young girl stride while Valerija continued to show cover girl appeal.

But this was a Myer show so the evening belonged to the beautiful Jennifer Hawkins, who at times seems to be morphing into singer Natalie Bassingthwaite. Our Jen got the photographers in a frenzy in a plunging Toni Maticovski dress and in Yeojin Bae for the finale. After the show sparkling Grant Burge fuelled the party spirit before people raced home, it was a school night after all. (March 17, 2009)

Words: Damien Woolnough

Photography: Lucas Dawson

click here for the full photo gallery

