

1. Policy Name	SUPPORTING STUDENTS
2. Policy Number	A019_PO_HE (Academic)
3. Purpose	To provide clear information on how Whitehouse identifies and supports students “at risk” of course progression to help them succeed in the course they are enrolled in, and report to the Commonwealth, annually. To ensure that students at risk of failing to pass their courses are identified and properly supported to study successfully.
4. Scope	The policy applies to all higher education students throughout their experience at Whitehouse, including the application, selection and admission process and their learning journey during their active enrolment to course completion and graduation.
5. Application	This policy applies to any enrolled higher education student needing support at Whitehouse and staff members engaged in and having a role and responsibility in supporting students in their learning journey. In conjunction with this policy, Whitehouse staff and students must read and familiarise themselves with the relevant Whitehouse policies/ procedures listed in the Key Documents section below.
6. Policy Statement	This policy is a response to the Federal government’s acceptance of the Australian Universities Accord, Interim report, 2023¹ findings which identified an issue with the 50 per cent pass rule which made students ineligible for further Commonwealth assistance (FEE-HELP) funding, under the job-ready graduates (JRG) package, and its recommendation that it be repealed. The Higher Education Support Amendment (Response to the Australian Universities Accord Interim Report) Bill 2023 (the Bill) passed on 19 October 2023. The Bill removes the 50 per cent pass rule and strengthens accountability and reporting requirements for higher education providers through new Support for students policy. The amendment is Chapter 10A Support for students policy, Schedule 1 – Amendments to the Higher Education Provider Guidelines, 2023, sub-sections 49A and 49B. The intention of this policy is to ensure that students at risk of failing to pass their courses are identified and properly supported to succeed.
7. Background	One of the key findings of the Australian Universities Accord, Interim report, was that the 50 per cent subjects pass rule was having an adverse effect on student learning progression, placing them “at risk”, limiting their opportunities to progress and succeed in their studies, and affecting their safety and wellbeing. Students that were identified as most affected were those from equity and disadvantaged groups, namely, from NESB, low socio-economic backgrounds, first nations people and women ².

A key recommendation of the report was to repeal the 50 percent rule and replace it with a targeted institutional provider policy response in developing and implementing a Support for students policy, starting January 1 2024. ³

In response, this policy is aligned to Schedule 1 – Amendments to the Higher Education Provider Guidelines, 2023, Chapter 10A Support for students policy, sub-sections 49A and 49B of the Act.

8. Supporting students

8.1 IDENTIFYING STUDENTS IN NEED OF SUPPORT, WITH A PARTICULAR REFERENCE TO “AT RISK” STUDENTS, (Section 10, 49a, of the Higher Education Act)

The process for identifying students “at risk” starts early, from a course inquiry, to application, admission, and enrolment processing, then parallels the student’s learning journey to course completion.

8.1.1 During the course inquiry, application, selection, and admission process

8.1.2 During the early weeks and before census date, and

8.1.3 After census date and throughout their learning journey.

8.2 SUPPORTING IDENTIFIED “AT RISK” STUDENTS

8.2.1 Student learning progress may be adversely affected by a variety and combination of factors, academic and / or non-academic, and which are case specific, as documented in a Student Consultation Form.

8.2.2 Students who reach out for support or are identified as potentially or actually “at risk” of progression due to specific reasons / causes are supported with an Individual Learning Plan (ILP), as detailed in the Student Progression and Exclusion procedure (sections 5, 6, 9).

8.3 SUPPORTING STUDENTS, BASED ON A RANGE OF INDIVIDUAL CIRCUMSTANCES AND CONDITIONS, (Section 10, 49 e – 49n of the Act)

The Individual Learning Plan (ILP) targets the identified factors (academic and/or non-academic) that have placed a student at risk with a personalised support strategy to address them, as detailed in corresponding Whitehouse procedure, related to:

8.3.1 Wellbeing and safety, (arising out of bullying, discrimination, sexual assault, or harassment).

8.3.2 Access and Equity (students from identified equity groups, and first nations people)

8.3.3 Critical incidents (such as accidents, domestic violence, trauma, sexual assault)

8.3.4 Reasonable adjustments (medical condition, disability, or impairment)

8.3.5 Special considerations / circumstances (unforeseen events such as financial hardships, natural disasters, pandemics, personal/family/compassionate reasons)

8.3.6 Difficulties in coping with the study lead.
