BACHELOR OF DESIGN

A Graduate Certificate of Design is crucial for anyone seeking to elevate their career to an international level. At Whitehouse Institute of Design, Australia, our Graduate Certificate of Design curriculum is meticulously designed to provide students with the skills and knowledge needed to excel in the global design arena. The program is structured around a triangular model of research, prototyping, and industry problem solving, ensuring a comprehensive and industry-relevant education.

Over a concise 12-week period, this program covers advanced design and research skills, equipping students with the tools to engage in complex design challenges. Delivered on-demand and entirely online, the Graduate Certificate of Design offers unparalleled flexibility, accepting enrollments year-round to accommodate the diverse needs of our professional students. Despite its brief duration, this program is the global academic equivalent to an honors-level degree, offering a rigorous academic experience that sets the foundation for future success.

Graduates of the Graduate Certificate of Design program will leave with a solid body of knowledge and mastery of essential skills, preparing them for professional practice in the creative industries. They will be adept at solving complex design problems, utilising contemporary scholarship, and implementing socially responsible and innovative design approaches.

Furthermore, our graduates will demonstrate the capacity for reflective practice and socially responsible design, making significant contributions to their communities. They will possess the design confidence and creative acumen needed to understand and respond to client needs, manage commercial projects, and adapt to the ever-evolving design landscape. With a Graduate Certificate of Design from Whitehouse, students are well-positioned to influence and lead in the global design community.

2023 BRIEF - STUDENT WORK BY AUGUST MATTHEWS

GRADUATE CERTIFICATE OF DESIGN

In today's rapidly evolving global design landscape, a Master of Design is essential for anyone aspiring to build a successful international career. At Whitehouse Institute of Design, Australia, our Master of Design curriculum is crafted to equip students with the expertise and innovation needed to thrive on the world stage. Centered on a triangular model of research, learning and teaching, and industry engagement, the program is structured around key themes that unfold across each trimester.

Beginning with the development of advanced design and research skills at the Graduate Certificate level, students then delve into the cultural dimensions of design at the Graduate Diploma level. At the Master level, the focus shifts to design experimentation, practice, and the culmination of their studies through a major project exhibition and publication. This practice-led approach, combined with studio practice in a collaborative learning environment, fosters the production of original and innovative design outcomes.

Delivered over three twelve-week trimesters, the program offers both full-time and part-time study options, ensuring flexibility while maintaining rigorous academic standards. By the end of the program, graduates will have acquired a comprehensive body of knowledge and honed the critical skills necessary for professional practice in the global creative industries. They will be adept at navigating complex design challenges, leveraging contemporary scholarship, and applying socially responsible and innovative approaches to design.

Moreover, our graduates emerge as reflective practitioners, equipped to address client needs, tackle commercial projects, and adapt to the ever-changing demands of the design industry. With the ability to drive future and emerging economies, a Master of Design from Whitehouse positions students as leaders and visionaries in the global design community.

MASTER OF DESIGN

THE WHITEHOUSE DIFFERENCE

OUR CAMPUSES

Whitehouse Institute of Design, Australia established in 1988 is a private design education specialist institution with three exciting design campuses, centrally located in Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane.

Set in the heart of the design precinct, Whitehouse's Sydney Campus is ideally located near the best supply stores and design studios. The campus has a modern industrial feel, with light-filled studios and spacious auditorium which promotes learning and facilitates exhibitions, lectures, open house and other events.

Whitehouse's Melbourne Campus was purposefully refitted as a design education facility. Situated on Bourke Street in the centre of the city it is within walking distance of Southern Cross Station. The campus, which opened in 2008 in the refurbished Royal Mail Exchange building, is easily accessible for students as well as being in close proximity to art supply stores and Melbourne's well known cultural precincts.

In 2021, Whitehouse opened its third campus in Kangaroo Point, Brisbane. This campus sits on the second largest land holding in Kangaroo Point and comprises of three unique buildings. With 65 car parks, a green bridge set to open in 2025 and direct transport links, Kangaroo Point is at the heart of Brisbane and within 5mins of fortitude valleys iconic fashion precinct, James Street.

Interstate Campus Exchange Opportunities
Students are encouraged to complete a trimester at an alternative Whitehouse campus providing the opportunity to experience the unique design orientation of each city. This flexibility also offers students the ability to broaden their network of contacts and friends, and offers a wider choice for work experience, internship programs and employment opportunities, and provides a national perspective for their future careers. Students can change their trimester every 12 weeks if they wish.

Design Education Specialists

Whitehouse has been offering design education since 1988. With more than 36 years experience in a range of programs from short courses, to vocational and higher education courses, award winning design education is what we do best.

OUR TEACHERS

Many of our academic staff are actively engaged in industry practice whilst also teaching. This dual focus allows the teachers to bring their industry insights and current knowledge into their classrooms and Whitehouse students benefit from this very real industry experience. Whitehouse academics encourage creativity and support the development of students skills and knowledge in all areas of design, including digital design and hand illustration.

Academic Support

Our timetables are something special. With 22 to 24 hours a week in studio and classes our students have a unique opportunity to get one on one advice and assistance from tutors, and lecturers. All timetables are delivered on a trimester model of study meaning students attempt three, twelve week blocks of study per year.

A typical trimester looks like this:

- 6 weeks of face-to-face classes and study
- 1 week of independent study, no formal classes
- 4 weeks of face-to-face classes and study
- 1 Panel Presentation Week

After each trimester, students have roughly three weeks holidays. Academic and welfare support is offered in a range of areas including English as a second language support, writing support and academic reading, note taking, research assistance and mental wellbeing check-ins.

2024 BRIEF - STUDENT WORK BY ERIN CAMPBELL

EXCHANGE PROGRAMS

Whitehouse works to develop and maintain professional affiliations with a number of other educational institutions in Australia and overseas. These arrangements expand learning pathways and create unique career opportunities for Whitehouse graduates. Students entering their second year of the Bachelor of Design have the opportunity to diversify their academic and cultural experiences by participating in an international exchange program in the UK. Students are encouraged to apply for a study period abroad at the University for the Creative Arts in Epsom or Rochester, 40 minutes from London. This partnership has been established to enrich the learning experience for students from both institutions.

INDUSTRY OPPORTUNITIES AND INTERNSHIPS

Because of the high regard in which Whitehouse Institute of Design, Australia is held by the Design industry, exclusive opportunities are offered to students and Alumni. These exclusive opportunities can be invitations to participate in competitions and industry collaborations with organisations such as LVMH, Christian Dior, Louis Vuitton, Melbourne Fashion Week (MFW), Melbourne Fashion Festival (MFF), The Powerhouse Museum Sydney, Australia Fashion Week (AWF), Australian Fashion Foundation Scholarship Internship New York (AUSFF), The Woolmark Company and many more.

Industry opportunities where students gain hands-on work experience within the design industry whilst continuing studies are a reality at Whitehouse – from design assistants, working with magazines, retail opportunities and more, students have the opportunity to extend their learning into the working world, giving our students the confidence to step out and reach their potential in the design community.

Student internship opportunities through Whitehouse have included on the job experience at Vogue Australia, DIOR, RUSSH Magazine, FENDI, Scanlan & Theodore, MECCA, MJ Bale, Cue Clothing Company, Witchery, Country Road, Vogue Fashion Night Out and SPACE furniture to name a few.

Exclusive invitations to specially hosted events such as the Festival des Metiers – a rendezvous with Hermes, in conversation with Tilda Swinton and CHANEL, or the Naturally Inspiring Seminar of the Woolmark Company provide students with unprecedented insights into the crafting of luxury fine objects as inspiration for their design journey.

Cultural affiliations also contribute to Whitehouse students' ability to work effectively in our creative communities. On-going relationships with Australian Wool Innovation, the Art Gallery of NSW, the National Gallery of Victoria, the Museum of Contemporary Art and the Powerhouse Museum serve to enrich our programs and student experience whilst celebrating our students' work.

ACADEMIC STAFF

In addition to our highly experienced and connected executive management team, the qualified academic staff at Whitehouse are passionate professionals many of whom are also industry practitioners. This balance of industry engagement and teaching means that Whitehouse staff are ideally suited to keep students in touch with what is happening in industry in terms of design and changing trends and practices.

2021 BRIEF - STUDENT WORK BY AIMEE KINGSLAND

2023 BRIEF - STUDENT WORK BY HAILEY LUDICK

At Whitehouse Institute of Design, Australia, our unique curriculum stands out as the most dynamic and industry-relevant in the southern hemisphere, with aspirations to lead globally. Updated every 12 weeks—faster than any other institution in Australia—our curriculum ensures that students engage with real-life creative briefs reflecting the latest trends and innovations from design capitals like Paris, London, Milan, and New York. This rigorous program is designed to achieve the highest creative outcomes, with students receiving 20-22 hours of face-to-face studio contact each week, more than double the national average for 2024.

Each trimester, the subjects you undertake are meticulously interwoven, culminating in a comprehensive and design leading end-of-trimester panel project. From initial research in design context to drafting in illustration, refining in design methods, executing in 3D form in studio/workshop, and finally presenting through photography and editorial layouts in digital design, every aspect of your work is interconnected. This integration is what drives the professional-level execution and exceptional outcomes that our students consistently achieve.

OUR UNIQUE CURRICULUM

THINK OF THIS SUBJECT AS A RESEARCH, MARKETING AND BUSINESS COURSE

SUBJECT ONE CONTEXT

The Design Context subject/unit supports students' understanding and appreciation of the complex issues that frame the contemporary practices of design. The strand approaches design in cultural and sustainable contexts. This enables the students to see the broader relationships between their area of practice and the history and culture of design, art and the marketplace. In the second year of studies, this subject evolves into design in business, marketing and professional context.

- SOME OF THE THINGS YOU LEARN
- HISTORY OF DESIGN
- MARKETING YOURSELF
- PROFESSIONAL RESUMES
- BUSINESS PROPOSALS
- WHO YOU ARE AS A DESIGNER
- WHERE YOU SIT IN THE INDUSTRY
- DIGITAL MARKETING
- SOCIAL MEDIA MARKETING
- ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

THINK OF THIS SUBJECT AS A GRAPHIC DESIGN COURSE

SUBJECT TWO DIGITAL DESIGN

The Digital Design subject/unit provides students with the knowledge, skills and attitudes required to create visual images and professional design portfolio, print and digital that support their design projects. Students utilise a range of ADOBE media and other platforms to describe, develop and market their projects. These subjects examine how digital media can be used to produce meaningful effective communications. This subject is best described as a graphic design course within a degree.

- SOME OF THE THINGS YOU LEARN
- PHOTOGRAPHY
 - GRAPHIC DESIGN
 - PHOTOSHOP
 - ANIMATION
 - FILM EDITING
 - MAGAZINE EDITORIAL
 - PRINT DESIGN
 - BRAND COLLATERAL
 - PORTFOLIO DESIGN
 - BRANDING

THINK OF THIS SUBJECT AS A VISUAL ARTS COURSE

SOME OF THE THINGS YOU LEARN
THE FASHION FIGURE
2- POINT PERSPECTIVE
SHADE AND TONE
COLOUR THEORY
ELEMENTS OF DESIGN
PRINCIPLES OF DESIGN
INTERIOR ILLUSTRATION
FOOD STYLING ILLUSTRATION

The Illustration for Design subject/unit provides students with the knowledge, skills and attitudes required to create visual images in a variety of illustrative media and styles which best support their design projects. Students explore a range of illustration media to visually communicate design outcomes. These subjects examine how visual media can be used to produce effective visual communications. It is a subject that if mastered correctly, transcends languages and enables graduates to work on a global scale.

SUBJECT THREE ILLUSTRATION

The Design Methods subject/unit supports students' investigation of specialised design innovation and exploration in fashion, interior and creative direction processes, technologies and materials for sustainable and responsible design outcomes. In this subject, students are tasked with solving real design problems and it is where students formulate original design ideas.

SUBJECT FOUR DESIGN METHODS

The Design Workshop subject/unit supports students through the realisation of 2D and 3D designs. The strand provides the opportunity to integrate and apply learning from other subjects to related design projects. Students can expect to cultivate their creativity and capacity for innovation, whilst simultaneously developing discipline specific technical practices. These skills will further cultivate each student's visual and communications skills introduced in the other strands.

SUBJECT FIVE DESIGN WORKSHOP

FASHION DESIGN

SPECIALISATION

WHY STUDY FASHION DESIGN?

Fashion Design investigates the relationship between clothing and the body, and challenges you to create original and innovative designs that resonate with contemporary clients and ideas. You will learn about the processes of design development and what is involved in design decision making. The course investigates the challenges of working with a range of materials in design projects and will also expose you to the commercial realities of the Fashion Design industry and its networks. By studying fashion design, you will learn the importance of research and trend forecasting for a range of markets.

WHY STUDY FASHION DESIGN AT WHITEHOUSE?

Classroom lectures, tutorials and studios at Whitehouse develop the knowledge, skills and attitudes required to be a successful fashion designer. Whitehouse is renowned for educating some of Australia's top fashion designers. Fashion students develop design and technical skills as well as knowledge of the cultural influences which apply to fashion and related design industries.

WHAT ARE MY CAREER OPTIONS AFTER STUDYING THE BACHELOR OF DESIGN?

Graduates of the Bachelor of Design, Fashion Design are fully equipped with the practical skills and professional knowledge to begin work as Fashion Designers. Graduate career paths may also include: fashion buyer, fashion writer, fashion illustrator, merchandiser and pattern maker. Graduates from the Bachelor of Design are also able to further their studies at Master and Doctoral levels, both in Australia and overseas.

2022 BRIEF - STUDENT WORK BY EDWINA HARDING

WHITEHOUSE STUDENT TESTIMONIAL: ERIN O'SULLIVAN

"Deciding to study Fashion Design at Whitehouse was the best decision I have made. The content is delivered in a way that is easy to understand and I love how hands-on the classes are. I'm amazed at how many new skills I've acquired, and the teachers have been incredibly helpful and approachable throughout the process. At times the course is really challenging, but with hard work, dedication and a great support group of peers and teachers I've found myself excelling, inspired and motivated to work hard and give everything the best I have. Plus, there really is nothing quite like seeing your designs come to life at the end of each trimester. If I had to choose, I'd say that my favourite classes are design and illustration as it's where I channel my creativity most. The invaluable knowledge that I've gained in such a short amount of time is remarkable and I can't wait to continue to learn new and exciting skills at the institute."

WHITEHOUSE GRADUATE TESTIMONIAL: ALINA TADEVOSYAN

"It was incredible to be surrounded by so many talented students, I think that healthy competition is a brilliant way to push yourself and to become the best designer you can possibly be. I also loved the fact that we had wonderful industry experienced teachers who were passionate about what they taught and excited to share their knowledge and their skillsets. This not only affected the academic side of my Whitehouse experience but also my growth as a person."

INTERIOR DESIGN

SPECIALISATION

WHY STUDY INTERIOR DESIGN?

Interior Design is concerned with the spaces we live, learn and work in, how we shape these spaces to the desires and needs of our clients, whether these be commercial, residential or corporate. Interior Design develops creative decision making, using a sound knowledge of materials, products and an understanding of how people live and find meaning within spaces. You will develop your skills in socially responsible design, furniture and fittings, and how to use colour and lighting to achieve dynamic living spaces and environments.

WHY STUDY INTERIOR DESIGN AT WHITEHOUSE?

Whitehouse offers a unique and personal design education experience. Whitehouse students gain the technical skills to present and communicate their design concepts and the underpinning theoretical knowledge required to understand and participate in the Interior Design and Decoration industries. Drafting, graphic communication, space planning and technical specifications, composition, colour theory and decorative product selection are just some of the areas of professional development.

WHAT ARE MY CAREER OPTIONS AFTER STUDYING THE BACHELOR OF DESIGN?

Graduates of the Bachelor of Design, Interior Design are fully equipped with the practical skills and professional knowledge to begin work as Interior Designers on commercial, residential and corporate projects. Interior Design graduate career pathways may include: interior designer, interior product designer, furniture designer, textile designer, model maker, lighting designer, set designer (tv & theatre), and interior stylist for magazines in domestic and commercial contexts. Graduates from the Bachelor of Design are also able to further their studies at Master and Doctoral levels, both in Australia and overseas.

2021 BRIEF - STUDENT WORK BY STUART CRAKE

WHITEHOUSE STUDENT TESTIMONIAL: RENATA GUIMARAES

“Enrolling in the Whitehouse Interior Design program not only changed my career, but also my life. The program offers me the opportunity to learn the many different aspects of design. Not only am I learning interior design, I’m also becoming a designer. This is extremely important to adapt to in an industry where the lines between different disciplines are blurring more and more. At Whitehouse, I am surrounded by a supportive and committed group of teachers, staff and students and I especially enjoy the one-on-one learning environment, the small class sizes and opportunities to be exposed to the design industry through events, guest speakers and competitions. I was also lucky enough to win a design competition for the Arncliffe Library and be one of the finalists for the Dulux Colour Awards. These competitions were a valuable introduction to the industry and led to me being offered valuable work experience as a Junior Interior Designer. It is a very competitive industry but, with the knowledge and skills I have been learning at Whitehouse, I feel prepared to enter it.”

WHITEHOUSE GRADUATE TESTIMONIAL: BRADHLY LE

Bradhly won the Design Institute of Australia Graduate of the Year Award for Interior Design and Sustainability. “The Interior Design program at Whitehouse has taken me on a diverse path from creative exploration to spatial design, to produce stimulating and meaningful experiences for the end-user. The program has equipped me with the necessary tools essential to enter the industry, and has encouraged me to challenge preconceptions of space and review our existing human environments. The skill and dedication from the teachers at Whitehouse Institute of Design, Australia has allowed me to extend and reshape my own boundaries, to arm me with the confidence to take on any design project from furniture and exhibition to interior design. Graduating from Whitehouse has brought me tremendous joy knowing that the friendships and experiences I’ve accumulated over the three years will continue into my working life.”

WHITEHOUSE STUDENT TESTIMONIAL: KATE GRIFFITHS

“Whitehouse is a whirlwind experience that helps you push your boundaries and create the best designs possible. Creative Direction & Styling is a brilliant course as you get to experience a wide range of aspects in the design world. Being taught by industry-based professionals has opened up many doors for me already and encourages me to strive towards my future design career. But the best thing for me is getting to come to a creative environment each day and be inspired to create and design things that I am passionate about.”

WHITEHOUSE GRADUATE TESTIMONIAL: KATE PETERS

“The majority of our assessments were ‘real life’ briefs which left us accountable not only to a teacher but to a client. This meant deadlines and a responsibility to impress, as these clients were people we would work for post-graduation. Essentially, working in the industry started the day we entered the Whitehouse doors. While lectures can prepare you for what the working world entails, I’m most grateful for the fact that I had this hands-on experience from so early on in my education. I was also so fortunate with the internship I was offered through Whitehouse, I made some great contacts and friends who have continuously supported me and my career.”

OPEN HOUSE AT WHITEHOUSE

Open House has been designed to assist potential students, parents and education facilitators to learn more about the programs Whitehouse offers and application processes. Open House provides the opportunity to meet our team of lecturers, current students and support staff who will be able to answer any questions you may have. Campus activations run throughout the day showcasing the Whitehouse student workspaces. Student work is on exhibit in the studios and in fashion runway shows.

If you can't make it to Whitehouse to the scheduled Open House, feel free to book a private campus tour. A Whitehouse representative will also be in attendance at the major Career and Education Expos in Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane and Perth and select locally run metropolitan and regional careers markets and events in both New South Wales, Victoria and Queensland.

WHITEHOUSE GRADUATE EXHIBITION & FASHION RUNWAY

Towards the end of the academic year, Whitehouse hosts the annual Graduate Exhibition & Fashion Runway, where the top graduating students present their work to industry, media and design professionals. This is the best opportunity to view the collections and major works of each year's graduating cohorts and is a sneak peek of the next generation of leading designers.

DEGREE INFORMATION EVENINGS/EVENTS

Degree Information Evenings at both Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane campuses have been designed to help you learn more about the courses and how to apply for them. Degree Information Evenings give you the opportunity to meet our team of lecturers, current students and support staff who will be able to answer any questions you may have. Check out our website for the latest workshops and events.

STUDYING IN SYDNEY

Sydney is a big city built across a beautiful harbour. Sydney offers cultural diversity in dining and shopping as well as being a city where outdoor pursuits are possible all year around. With beaches and parks to explore as well as theatres, restaurants, galleries and museums there is always something to do in this busy city. In summer the city comes alive with the festival of Sydney running through January providing opportunities for both paid and free entertainment

The Sydney campus is located in the design precinct. A two minute walk takes you to Crown street, a place to find a gourmet grocer, restaurants, coffee shops and boutiques for books, objects and clothing.

A 10-15 minute walk will have you in the centre of Sydney's central business district, at the Art Gallery of NSW or the Australian Museum or watching the water sparkle on the Archibald fountain in Hyde Park, a green oasis in the middle of the city. ENTRY REQUIREMENTS FOR OVERSEAS STUDENTS

Overseas students are subject to the same academic requirements as domestic students. They must also have achieved an English academic standard of IELTS 6.5, no band score under 6.0 (TOEFL 79-93 or equivalent). Overseas students must also be aged 18 or above at the time of application.

APPLICATION FOR OVERSEAS STUDENTS

All applicants are to complete an Application for Enrolment - Overseas Students, provide proof of academic results, present a portfolio of creative works and other supporting documentation (depending on applicant category). Applicants residing overseas may be interviewed via teleconference. It is advisable that applicants are familiar with the entry requirements, course program, tuition fees and Whitehouse policies before lodging the Application for Enrolment - Overseas Students. Application for Enrolment forms should be completed at your earliest convenience. More information on entry requirements and the application process can be found in the Application Guide available online.

EDUCATION SERVICES FOR OVERSEAS STUDENTS

The Education Services for Overseas Students Act (ESOS Act) determines, in part, the nature of the relationship Whitehouse will develop with you. The ESOS Act has been established to ensure a high quality learning experience in Australia. For more information, visit the government website Australian Education International www.aei.gov.au/AEI/ESOS

VISA AND IMMIGRATION MATTERS

Your right to study in Australia as an overseas student is embodied in your student visa, which in turn imposes certain conditions with which you must comply to stay in Australia. It is your responsibility to comply with these requirements and that failure to comply will require Whitehouse to report any breaches of the visa conditions to the Department of Immigration and Border Protection. The Whitehouse Institute will not compromise its status as a registered provider of higher education, or any accredited courses by inappropriately advising or assisting students on the following visa or immigration matters:

- Initial applications to the Australian Government to obtain a student visa
- Subsequent applications for visa renewal or variation
- Reversing visa cancellations for defaulting students
- Visa applications from family members or associates of students
- Residency applications following course completion
- Requests from immigration agents or lawyers

For information or assistance visit www.border.gov.au

OVERSEAS STUDENT HEALTH COVER (OSHC)

As an overseas student on a student visa you are legally required to provide evidence of maintaining approved OSHC while studying in Australia. When you have been accepted into a program of study at Whitehouse, and you have paid your tuition reservation deposit you will be issued with a Confirmation of Enrolment (CoE). Whitehouse can apply on your behalf for the first year of study or you can present the CoE to Medicare to apply for OSHC.

LIVING IN AUSTRALIA

The cost of living in any city depends on your choice of lifestyle. We recommend you visit the official Australian government web site for international students studying in Australia. Averages on the costs of living can be found at www.studyinaustralia.gov.au.
